

Are you age 6-15? Share your experience about walking, wheeling or cycling!

Sustainable transport charity Sustrans is producing a new report called the Children's Walking and Cycling Index. The report is packed with important survey data about the travel behaviours, experiences and attitudes of children age 6-15 from all over Scotland.

We want to make sure the voices of children are included in the debate about transport and improving the places where we all live. The aim is to get this report into the hands of decision makers like MSPs and local councillors.

To bring the survey data to life, we are looking for short personal stories about walking, wheeling or cycling to feature in the report. We will also require an accompanying photograph.

Interested? Scan the QR code to fill in our form

